MOOSE ORDER WAIVE DUES
FOR MEMBERS WHO ENLIST
OR ARE CONSCRIPTED

Mooseheart, Ill., Oct. 14.—The Loyal Order of Moose, international fraternal organization with nearly 1,700 lodges and a half million members, has waived dues of all its members who enlist or are conscripted for military service. Each Moose member called will remain in good standing without paying dues throughout his period of active service.

This action has been taken by the Moose supreme council to line up the entire organization 100 per cent in support of the national defence programme. Supreme Secretary Malcolm R. Giles states that members in active military service will be eligible to enjoy all the social and fraternal benefits of the Moose.

Children of Moose members who might die while engaged in active military service, will be given a home, a high school education and training in a trade at Mooseheart, the "child city" located near Aurora, Illinois, if they otherwise qualify and are dependent.

In addition to this new action, the Loyal Order of Moose is at present conducting a patriotic campaign in all lodges in the United States. It is the purpose of the campaign to place a new American flag in the home of each member and to present each child at Mooseheart with a flag, a Constitution of the United States and a booklet telling how to display and care for the flag properly.

Recent decisions of the Moose, however, are international as well as national in scope. The supreme council, headed by U. S. Senator James J. Davis, director general of the Moose, will provide a home at Mooseheart for 50 evacuated children of Moose members in Great Britain. Nearly 500 will be taken immediately and more will find a home at Mooseheart as facilities become available. This in no way affects the 200 other Moose children from Great Britain who are to be cared for in homes of Canadian members. Sufficient funds have been voted to cover the cost of transporting these children from the port of arrival to homes in Canada and to Mooseheart.

Safecrackers got $385 of school funds at Stirling post office on Tuesday night.

REMEMBRANCE DAY OBSERVED

Remembrance Day was very fittingly observed in Blairstown, where the Orpheum theatre was filled to capacity for the service. Members of the Canadian Legion, the I.O.D.E. and the 16th Alberta Light Horse attended in a body, occupying front positions.

The service opened under the chairmanship of Mr. J. Angus MacDonald with the singing of "O Canada," invocation by Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A., and two minutes of silence for "Our Honored Dead." Following the hymn, "O God our help in ages past," and the memorial prayer by Rev. Mr. Arrol, a stirring address was delivered by Mr. John Shevels, of Bellevue. The "Roll" was called by Comrades Lewis and D. A. Howe, followed by Trumpeter Bill Allen, the National Anthem and benediction. Mrs. Jean Merchant officiated at the piano for the service.

Leaving the theatre a procession was formed, headed by a squad of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police under Sgt. J. A. Cassey, and proceeded to the cenotaph, where wreaths were deposited.

"GRANNIE" MILLS LOOKS BACK

To sketch the life of any of the pioneer women of Alberta and do it justice would make indeed a long story, but here are a few birthday memories from "Grannie" Mills, who has just passed her 94th birthday. She is a grand old lady and in a moment of reflection said:

"Well, I've been out since 1886, that's 54 years ago, in the West. And did we have a fine million-dollar bridge to go west on? I think not! Came from Dunnmore to Lethbridge on the old narrow gauge, then went from Lethbridge round by St. Mary's to the old A. R. & L. and finished the trip up into the Pass by stage coach. This, too, like the early railroads, had its moments now and then."

"I came with my husband, who came from England to manage the Garnett brothers' ranch. Neighbors in those days were mighty few and well scattered, and took two extremes, either English ranchers or Indians. But let me tell you there were some fine, good Indians."

"Another I can plainly remember was good old Father Lacombe, who often dropped in for a chat and a night's rest before riding onward. I recall the Frank Slide as it were yesterday; our shelves, tables and chairs were all thick with dust from the crushed rocks and stones."

"When I listen to the church and radio Sunday school for kiddies nowadays and think back when our preachers were so few and far between; I had to teach a whole encampment of Indian children the Word of God on Sundays. And I rejoice now at the beauties of our present Galt Gardens—can well recall when they played lacrosse on it and was only circled by a lot of hitching posts with pinto Indian ponies tied to them."

"I can remember George M. Hatch and Dr. Mewburn with the first motor cars in Lethbridge. We all thought they were clean crazy."

"Well, I've had many meetings and bitter partings, too. But that's the West all over. I've outlived my good husband, George Mills, by 11 years, and my dear and only daughter by four years; but despite my failing eyes I love the church services and the radio, and enjoy a good book when they read it to me. But there's still one thing left I want to see, and that's enough war stamps sold to put Hitler out of business forever.—Nemismar correspondent to The Lethbridge Herald, November 11th.

RED CROSS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the local branch Canadian Red Cross Society was held in the Sartoris hall last night and was well attended.

The reading of the various reports showed a very satisfactory condition of the activities of the local branch, and prospects for carrying on in the future were very optimistic.

Mr. W. H. Chappell, the retiring president, gave a very interesting address covering all the activities of the branch since its formation, and we regret that space will not permit us to give the full text of the address.

Following is a summary of the financial and supplies reports as given by the vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Hammer, and treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Granger.

Receipts during eleven months ending October 31st, 1940, showed a sum of over $2,300, and disbursements during that time of over $1,400. Over $600 in cash was remitted to headquarters, and the following goods shipped in eleven shipments: Number of articles 2,756, of a total value of $2,270.35.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mr. Robert Oakes.

First vice-president, in charge of war work, Mrs. J. B. Harmer.

Second vice-president, Mr. R. W. H. Pinkney.

Treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Granger.

Secretary, Mrs. J. R. Smith.

A fine programme was rendered, including items by Mr. Moffat's choir, Upton's orchestra and several soloists from Bellevue. The local branch desire to thank all those taking part in the programme, the general public for their support financially, and the ladies of the town and district, who have been so interested in their work for the boys of the forces.

REVISE ALBERTA
MOTOR TRAFFIC ACT

Fresh action designed to curb the accident danger on Alberta highways has been taken by the provincial authorities, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

On numerous occasions accidents have been caused with serious or fatal results when a car has run into a disabled truck or other commercial vehicle on the highway.

While this was covered by a previous regulation along this line, a new regulation just passed by the highway traffic board provides that every commercial or public service vehicle, such as truck or buses, respectively, must carry a flare, lamp, lantern or fire extinguisher at all times.

In case of a breakdown on the highway at night, such flare or other light must be placed 100 feet in front and 100 feet to the rear of the disabled vehicle.

Another section provides that the light must be of such strength that it may be seen clear through ordinary conditions of visibility at a distance of 500 feet.

The need of proper warning steps regarding disabled cars has been before A.M.A. officials for some time while the new regulation is welcomed as a step in the right direction, especially when the volume of motor traffic on Alberta highways is steadily increasing.

Miss Gladys Lees has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the town of Coleman, succeeding Miss Audrey Halliwell, who has resigned as acting secretary. Miss Halliwell has accepted a position with the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Toronto, and left this week for the queen city. Miss Lees will hold the position for the duration of the war, and Mr. Ed. Bernard, now with the 23rd Provost Co., C.A.S.F., will take up the work when he returns from active service.

WHY ARE FIRE ENGINES RED?

This subject was debated at a recent session of the Blairstown Drys. It was claimed that because newspapers are read too, two and two are four, and four times three are twelve, and 12 inches make a ruler, a ruler is Queen Mary, and Queen Mary is a ship, and ships sail on the ocean; oceans have fish, and fish have fins, and the fins fought the Russians, and the Russians are red; therefore, fire engines are red because they're rushin' too.

The first "caucus" known to Alberta was during the regime of Ed. Michener as a party leader. For twenty-four years after that we had some government.

Looking At The Future

The recent announcement that the development of navigation, as well as that of power, in connection with the agreement between the United States and Canada providing for the completion of the St. Lawrence seaway project to the Great Lakes, is to be given attention is one which will lend additional interest to the project in Western Canada.

The navigational aspect of the project, which had been overlooked in publicity surrounding the belated agreement and its potential effects on the industrial life of this country is, in fact, of greater interest and importance to the west than the further development of hydro-electric power in the International rapids section of the St. Lawrence river.

For this reason, it is to be hoped that there is a distinctivity in the statement that President Roosevelt has no intention of sidetracking navigation by leaving power development on the project alone, and that no time will be lost in carrying out the necessary preliminary surveys and getting on with actual construction work underway.

There is considerable interest in the declaration attributed to Washington officials that, "Had the seaway, with its 2,500 miles of navigable water, been constructed, every great lakes port in the United States and Canada would have participated in both American and British shipbuilding programs."

The interest in this statement does not centre in what might have been, but rather in the benefits that may and should accrue to Western Canada if the project is brought to fruition, and more particularly if it can be completed in time to ensure its early use after the war is over.

At The Back Door

The completion of the seaway project, in effect, will bring the ocean to the back door of the prairie provinces. It will mean that the largest ocean going commercial vessels will be able to tie up at docks at the head of the great lakes, load their export cargoes there and carry them to ports of discharge in Europe or elsewhere without incurring costs of trans-shipment or any other handling charges en route. If the savings in freight and insurance rates and handling charges thus effected are passed back to the producer, as they should be, the Western Canadian farmer should derive some benefit from this great undertaking.

The completion of the St. Lawrence seaway project to the head of the lakes should assure the future of an ocean port for Fort William and Port Arthur. With the growth of population and of industrialization in the prairie provinces, the development of a Canadian Chicago at Fort William or therabouts seems to be not an unwarranted prospect for the future. The existence of a great metropolis and port at the head of the lakes on the Canadian side should have some effect on the prosperity of the prairies. It should provide an expanding market for some of the commodities which the prairies now have to offer and for an increasing variety of commodities which they may have available in the future.

The statement that great lakes ports would have participated in ship building programs to meet war requirements had the St. Lawrence seaway project been constructed by this time is an inkling of one of the possibilities which peace time may hold for a Canadian port at the head of the lakes after the completion of this gigantic project.

The development of a large industrial centre at the head of the lakes might conceivably furnish a market for natural gas which, there is reason to believe, will some day be available in Saskatchewan in sufficient volume to warrant piping to the head of the lakes. If such a development becomes an economic feasibility it might be expected to solve the problem of power for many small industries en route to the larger market.

A Word Of Warning

The completion of the St. Lawrence seaway project to the head of the great lakes, however, should not be allowed to furnish a pretext to permit the Hudson Bay railway and the terminal facilities of the Hudson Bay route at Churchill to fall into desuetude and decay, still less should the prospect of the completion of the project to the east be permitted to do so.

It is to the interest of the people of Western Canada, and certainly those of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, to see to it that competitive routes are available for the transport of export and import commodities between the prairies and the world markets, where the latter again become available.

There is every reason to believe that the mere existence of the Hudson Bay route, even when it was not extensively used, acted as a curb on freight charges on the great lakes during the navigation season, and that to extend, at least, the Hudson Bay route has already been of some value to the agricultural industry of the west.

It should not be forgotten that some fifty million dollars has been spent on the northern route and that it was mostly financed by the west. After the war the route via the Bay should be developed to the extent of demonstrating that it has a direct value to the western prairies, but that will not be so easy, if in the meantime, the railway and the facilities at Churchill are permitted to disintegrate. If that is allowed, it may never be rehabilitated.

Price Of Onions And Peas Has Soared In Great Britain

One of the strange results of the war has been the heavy increase in prices of both onions and peas in Great Britain. Meats and other vegetables have not soared in costs, but the onions and peas have climbed beyond normal. While epicures take gastronomical delight in both onions and peas, most of the people have decided they can get along without the two vegetables for the duration. They think that if that is the only shortage they encounter, it will not be such a tough war on the stomach after all.

Invented The Menu

The German nobleman and gourmet, Henry of Brunswick, reputedly invented the menu in 1489 when he ordered his cook to list on paper all the viands to be served, so he could save his appetite for those he liked best.

Times Will Be Published

London Newspaper Will Come Out No Matter What Happens

"Whatever happens — no matter what happens, The Times will be published. If Printing House Square be knocked out, we will publish elsewhere in London. If that should be rendered impossible, we'll publish somewhere in the country. As long as there is a suitable printing plant in England, The Times will be printed and published. And if you can imagine such a thing that we are blown out of Britain, then we'll cross the Atlantic and publish The Times there!"

With this declaration made to him by C. S. Kent, manager of The Times, Capt. F. D. Bone has an interesting article in Editor and Publisher on "How The Times Is Meeting Woes of the War."

Regarding newspaper, Mr. Kent is quoted as saying that most newspapers have still considerable stocks of paper. By halving the present size The Times could carry on for eight or nine months.

"Arrangements are being made to help everybody. No newspaper in the country shall go without its share."

"In spite of rationing there is no immediate anxiety. We have good stocks, and the Newsprint Supply Company will insure imports from Canada and Newfoundland so long as that is humanly possible. We are confident about that."

Mr. Kent observed during the interview that the present war had destroyed the fallacy that war is good for newspapers and Capt. Bone comments:

"That fallacy began I suspect when Delane dragged 'Russel of the Times' from the reporters' gallery of the House of Commons and sent him to the Crimean war to tell the world, and afterwards to the Indian Mutiny and to your Civil War, to tell the world again."

"Then, indeed, on great occasions soared the circulation of The Times. Mr. Kent said that despite news reports by wireless, six times a day, the circulation is not affected. People still want newspapers which verify and amplify—and, yes, to steady themselves with the views of the newspaper in which they put their trust."

Mr. Kent concluded the interview with the words:

"Tell them that we will send the United States a victory copy of The Times."—Newspaper World, London.

Identified By Rhythm

One of London's best root-splitters is guided by the rhythm of German motors. According to him, the Heinkel engine says slowly, "I'm Goering, I'm Goering." The Dornier rhythm is "Where Will You Have It? Where Will You Have It?" The big Junkers 88 repeats, "I'm Coming, I'm Coming, I'm Coming."

PREMIERS ASKED TO CONSIDER THE SIROIS REPORT

Ottawa.—Early action on the sweeping recommendations of the royal commission on Dominion-provincial relations is urged by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a call sent out for a Dominion-provincial conference in January to consider implementation of these recommendations.

Invitations to take part in such a conference were sent to the premiers of all the provinces, the prime minister announced to the House of Commons.

Expressing a government opinion on the commission's report for the first time since it was submitted last May, the prime minister said it "commemited itself strongly to our judgment that no time should be lost in arranging a conference regarding."

"It is the view of the government that adoption of the commission's recommendations is necessary to put our country in a position to pursue a policy which will achieve the maximum war effort—and, at the same time, to lay a sound foundation for post-war reconstruction." Mr. King said in his strongly worded letter to the provincial premiers.

Text of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's letter to the provincial premiers follows in part:

My dear premier:
As you are aware, the report of the royal commission on Dominion-provincial relations was presented to the government of Canada on May 16, 1940. Although it was not possible to study this report immediately upon its receipt, my colleagues and I have availed ourselves of the opportunity afforded by the adjournment of parliament on Aug. 7, to give to its recommendations the most careful consideration.

The report commends itself strongly to our judgment. We believe that no time should be lost in arranging for a conference with the provinces, in order to secure, if possible, the adoption of the commission's recommendations.

You will recall the circumstances which, in 1937, led to the creation of the Rowell-Sirois commission. It was appointed because of general dissatisfaction in respect of Dominion-provincial relations and arrangements—a dissatisfaction which reached a critical stage during the depression. The inability of local and provincial governments to deal with mass unemployment and agricultural distress, and the resulting financial difficulties and controversy in regard to policy and administrative responsibility, constituted admitted evils and a serious strain on national unity. The necessity, under existing constitutional authority, of maintaining local responsibility for relief, precluded the development of policies on a national scale, and produced a situation which seriously affected the morale of the unemployed and destroyed the financial independence of many local governments. In the emergency, the Dominion made large contributions for relief purposes but could not assume full or permanent responsibility for unemployment nor can it do so, unless measures such as those contemplated by the commission are agreed upon.

Union Now Movement

Establishment Of A Permanent Organization In Canada

Toronto.—Goldwin Gregory of Oakville, Ont., author, and acting secretary of the provisional organizing committee for the "Union Now" movement in Canada, said that establishment of a permanent organization in the Dominion depends on voluntary financial support.

"Union now," the plan of Clarence K. Strahl, former New York newspaperman, for a federal union of democracies, was launched nationally in Canada with an organization meeting and a meeting of the provisional committee.

Order Was Rescinded

British Women And Children May Stay In Hong Kong

Hong Kong.—Orders for compulsory departure of British women and children from Hong Kong have been rescinded on instruction from London, an official announcement said.

The announcement that those remaining here would not be compelled to leave was interpreted generally as meaning that British apprehension of a crisis in the Pacific are lessening.

Master Gauges

Pays Tribute To Skill And Ingenuity Of Canadian Craftsmen

Ottawa.—Canadian craftsmen and engineers in 50 shops are turning out highly complicated "master gauges" for guns, shells, tanks, aircraft and other essentials of the Dominion's wartime program. Munitions Minister Howe said.

The minister's statement said this number compared with "only two or three shops" capable of turning out gauges to a precision of 1/10,000-inch before the war began.

The highly satisfactory output of these precise gauges is a tribute to the skill, ingenuity and spirit of Canadian craftsmen and engineers," Mr. Howe said.

"We are finding that Canadians are highly adaptable, and that young men and women can be trained for the most exacting work and can attain astounding skill."

"We have had the utmost co-operation from manufacturers in the rapid expansion which has been necessary in this vital phase of the war effort." Mr. Howe said more than 4,000 kinds of gauges now are being made in Canada.

Should Report

Single Men Should Notify Divisional Registrars

Ottawa.—Physically fit single men of 21 and 22 years who did not receive calls for compulsory military training at the first or second training periods should notify their divisional registrars, a war service department official said.

Faulty registration cards or changes of address may have accounted for some eligible men not receiving calls, he said.

Under new regulations changes of address must be communicated to the Dominion statistician at Ottawa and to the divisional registrars of the war service department.

All eligible 21-year-olds listed, 22-year-olds and some in the 23-year-old class have been called, a press release from the war service department announced.

Recruits seeking postponement of training on medical grounds have eight days in which to make applications to their divisional registrar.

Raid Repairs

Noise Bombs As Britain's Reply To Hitler's Screamers

London.—An anonymous British inventor has drawn up plans for what he called "a Bronx cheer" noise bomb as Britain's reply to Hitler's "screamers" bombs.

The inventor pointed out that small "pipe organ" tubes used to lead the bombs by the Germans produce the terrific screaming noise intended to frighten the population of London when Nazi raiders are overhead.

In reprisal, he suggested the British should attack to their bombs "those small rubber vibrators that make and prize fight fans use to produce uncouth sounds."

"The result," he said, "would be a 5,000-foot Bronx cheer or raspberry, expelling—all the way down—Britain's utter contempt for the worst that the Nazis can do."

Underground Life

Would Feed Londoners In Daylight Above Ground

London.—Violet Markham, deputy chairman of the London assistance board, declared that the only way to stop some Londoners from leading an almost complete underground life was to feed them in daylight above ground.

The chairman was in favor of making them "come up to eat or they might become timid troglodytes afraid of the sun, moon, air and sky."

This pronouncement followed on the heels of the institution of feeding facilities in underground tubes for the nighty occupants.

Italy's Submarine Losses

One Quarter Of Her Total Underwater Strength Has Disappeared

New York.—Italy has lost 29 submarines, or one-quarter of her total underwater strength, since she entered the war, the British Broadcasting Corporation said in a broadcast heard by the National Broadcasting Company. This figure included the submarine which the admiralty announced recently had been sunk.

(Janet) Fighting Ships gave Italy 104 submarines as of September, 1939. The Italians entered the war in June and no authoritative figure on her submarine strength since then has been given.

C.P.R. Scholarships

Free Tuition At McGill University Offered Again This Year

Montreal.—Two scholarships providing for free tuition at McGill University, in several faculties and schools are offered again this year by the C.P.R., it was announced by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the C.P.R., Montreal.

Subject to competitive examination, the awards are open to all apprentices and other employees of the railway under 21 years of age and to minor sons and daughters of employees. The scholarships are part of a wide educational program sponsored by the C.P.R.

BRITISH PRESS PAYS TRIBUTE TO U. S. PRESIDENT

London.—The Daily Mail, paying tribute to President Roosevelt on his re-election, said "he must be named with Washington and Lincoln among the select company of really great American presidents."

"His re-election is a heavy blow to Hitler and Mussolini. Two of the world's hated dictators in the salient areas as those of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill," the newspaper said.

"The dictators hate these men because they fear them . . . The immediate effect of Mr. Roosevelt's return to office will be to speed up war supplies for Britain. He may examine other possibilities of assistance; we may hope that he will be able to tackle financial problems. It is the form of help for which we stand sorely in need."

The News Chronicle commented:

"The re-election of Mr. Roosevelt will be heralded with joy wherever the championship of free men is held sacred . . ."

"That he should have been chosen against the tremendous unbroken tradition opposed to a third consecutive term shows how the immense historic occasion is felt by the electors."

"Willkie might have made a very good president—perhaps he will do so in some future term."

"Roosevelt is in a unique position among presidents of the United States, having nothing whatever to fear for his future (a fourth term being ruled out), being thus able to devote himself wholeheartedly to the task of bringing material power and moral weight of his great country to the highest pitch of efficiency in the great duty of defeating aggression."

"His words and actions tell a story of courageous opposition to tyranny and of crusades for a new deal for the weak and oppressed. To them and all who work for them, his success sounds the trumpet call to constancy and redoubled effort until victory is won and a better world order is established."

In reprisal, he suggested the British should attack to their bombs "those small rubber vibrators that make and prize fight fans use to produce uncouth sounds."

"The result," he said, "would be a 5,000-foot Bronx cheer or raspberry, expelling—all the way down—Britain's utter contempt for the worst that the Nazis can do."

House To Meet In Regular Session On November 18

Mr. Bracken's announcement gave no indication of the legislative program which may come before the first Great War will begin refreshers courses Nov. 11 at elementary flying training schools operating under the British Commonwealth air training plan in Edmonton and Regina.

Setting of the session date followed formation of the province's new non-partisan government.

It is expected that Mr. Bracken will nominate an election date after the session, with the union government followers going to the country to face candidates who may be selected to oppose the coalition idea.

Teach Democracy

Would Train Students In The Principles Of Canadian Citizenship

Toronto.—A plan of youth training in the principles and practice of democracy was endorsed by the executive of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, it was announced.

The plan, proposed by Miss Evelyn McDonald of Bloor Collegiate, Toronto, would be directed by the federal government through the provincial departments of education and organized in every secondary school of the Dominion by the teachers' federation.

The plan would provide teaching students with a knowledge of the duties and privileges of Canadian citizenship and of war issues, so that they may make a maximum contribution toward victory.

Dental Convention

Edmonton.—Dentists of the western Canadian Dental Society will hold their biennial convention here next June, President Dr. J. M. Dixon of Calgary announced after an executive meeting. Dr. F. W. Winthrop of Saskatoon, first vice-president, and Dr. K. M. Johnson of Winnipeg, second vice-president, attended.

Refresher Course

Veteran Officer Pilots To Be Absorbed Into Air Force

Ottawa.—On the theory that an old "sky dog" still can learn new tricks, veteran officer pilots of the first Great War will begin refresher courses Nov. 11 at elementary flying training schools operating under the British Commonwealth air training plan in Edmonton and Regina.

When their training is completed the war-experienced flyers will be absorbed into the Royal Canadian Air Force as commissioned pilots assigned to various staff duties.

MORE AID FROM U. S. FOR BRITAIN NOW EXPECTED

Washington.—Expanded plans by the United States for aiding Great Britain appeared to be in the making as Secretary of State Cordell Hull called for post-election unity in carrying forward the "principles and practices of Roosevelt's policies," President Roosevelt's foreign policies.

These, Hull said in a statement, gained "nation-wide approval" in the election and "our nation can now go forward with the fullest measure of practical teamwork by the government and the people in the firm contemplation of those foreign policies."

What specific steps are planned to reinforce British resistance to the axis powers were uncertain, as creating attention was given here, however, to the question of British sea power as a result of intensified air submarine activities in the Atlantic and threats in the Mediterranean area.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull have been emphasizing the danger to the United States in what the secretary of state called attempts by "the would-be conquerors" to seize control of the oceans.

Expansion of United States shipbuilding facilities to turn out replacement ships for British merchant shipping losses has been under discussion in some quarters to counter the increasing submarine threat.

But Winston Churchill, British prime minister, hinted that further naval reinforcements also would be welcome to heighten the "gigantic task" of the Royal Navy in convoying merchant fleets.

This led to new speculation on the possibility that still more American destroyers might be released to Britain, supplementing 50 which recently were exchanged for naval and air base sites on British possessions in the western hemisphere.

Anglo-American talks on Pacific defence problems also are expected to be given new impetus.

The early return of the Marquess of Lothian, British ambassador from London, is expected. Before he left, Lord Lothian conferred frequently with Hull on problems arising in the Pacific from Japan's new alliance with Germany and Italy and indications of a Japanese drive southward toward the Netherlands East Indies and Singapore.

This led to speculation on possible American use of the British naval base at Singapore but both the president and secretary of state declared emphatically during the campaign that no secret commitments of any kind existed.

Still further help for China is expected, possibly in the form of planes and loans.

ROYAL AIR FORCE AIDS TO CONTROL ENEMY SKYWAYS

London.—The government made it clear that Britain would "reserve full liberty of action in regard to Rome" since Italian flyers have joined the Germans in bombing attacks on London.

This unamplified observation on the status of the Italian capital was made by R. A. Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, while signs indicated that the Royal Air Force was preparing to increase—not lessen—the tempo of its counter-attack during the coming winter.

Nothing short of control of German skies and a complete "bomb blockade" of Nazi heavy industry, said one air observer, is the British winter and spring aim.

The air ministry reported new bombing threats to the outskirts of Berlin, as well as raids on inland Nazi-held coastlines.

Industrial plants in Spandau, a Berlin suburb, were heavily attacked in overnight raids, the ministry said, and a railway junction northwest of the German capital also was bombed.

Mr. Butler's remarks about Rome were made in the House of Commons.

Italy, which had declared Rome an open or undefended city after she entered the war last June 10, joined the aerial attack on London, Oct. 24.

Discussing Britain's winter campaign, an informant said it probably would be a carefully defined process intended first to destroy German war factories and second to smash railroad and shipping facilities—but aimed above all else at damaging German morale.

He added that next would come an attempt to gain daylight air supremacy over all Germany.

The publication "The Aeroplane" suggested that this would be done with "a new generation" of heavy bombers plus United States-built equipment.

Will Act If Necessary

British Air Marshal Says R.A.F. Prepared To Raid Rome

London.—Air Marshal Sir Philip Jouett said in a broadcast the Royal Air Force "certainly shall attack Rome, as and when it suits us." Sir Philip, noted soldier and airman, spoke on the British Broadcasting Corporation's "British Speaks" feature.

"It would be a pity to attack Rome," Sir Philip said, "but if the need arises—no doubt we shall steel ourselves to this act of vandalism. It would not be the first time that an invader from the north has laid the city of Rome in ruins."

Sir Philip credited fear of a possible retaliatory attack on Rome as contributing to the apparent decision of the Italians not to participate in aerial attacks on London.

Trans-Canada Air Lines

Heavy Increases Show In Passengers And Express Shipments

Winnipeg.—Trans-Canada Air Lines carried 6,337 passengers in September. This was 3,820 more than the same month in 1939 but 724 less than August due to the shorter month and falling off in vacation travel. Mail loads aggregated 86,040 pounds, a considerable increase from the previous month and twice the 1939 volume. Express rose from 646,785 pounds in August to 12,776 in September.

In the three-quarter period, the air line carried a total of 38,110 passengers, an increase of 24,078 over 1939. Mail grew from 320,209 to 446,785 pounds and express grew from 32,410 last year to 75,704 this.

Gorakhpur, India.—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, one of two men chosen by Mahatma G. Gandhi to make anti-war speeches as part of a Nationalist plan of "limited civil disobedience," was sentenced to "four years of rigorous imprisonment." First to defy the law with anti-war speeches was Vinoba Bhave, sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

MAKE PLANS FOR TOURIST CAMPAIGN

Plans to attract more tourists to Alberta next year are being advanced by various organizations.

Recently a joint plan to tell tourists about the attractions of the parks along the borders of Alberta and British Columbia were discussed by officials of the two provincial governments.

There is a strong belief that furthering of such a joint effort on a co-operative basis would draw a still greater number of tourists to Alberta next year.

The Alberta Motor Association, at its next annual meeting to be held in Calgary early in December, also will take up tourist traffic as one of the main subjects for discussion.

The branch meetings in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge, which will precede the annual provincial meeting, also are expected to devote some time to tourist matters.

Suggestions have been made that the provincial government's appropriation for tourist publicity in 1941 should be largely increased and that $50,000 should be provided, compared with $22,000 this year.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windress)

Edmonton, Nov. 12.—In circles close to the government it was made known that while Premier Aberhart is going east with the intention of raising a fuss in Ottawa, first about the Rowell-Sirois commission reports on dominion-provincial affairs, he is also planning to tour Ontario cities and towns delivering his illustrated lecture, now famous in Alberta and British Columbia.

At the caucus of federal Social Credit members held here the week before last, Aberhart reportedly was urged by his M.P. disciples to undertake the eastern tour. J. H. Blackmore, leader of the group in the commons, was instructed to prepare an itinerary in Ontario for Aberhart's tour.

Even within Alberta, where Aberhart is his own attorney-general, his propaganda campaign through recent addresses, his illustrated lecture and his Prophetic Bible Institute speeches have been regarded as dangerous, in view of present conditions. There is some basis, therefore, for misgivings about the reception which the Alberta premier is likely to get in Ontario.

That province, which has its own attorney-general and a good idea of the necessity for Canadian unity in these critical days, has not been looking kindly recently upon any kind of activity which might spread discord.

Here in Edmonton, law volumes have been looked up in recent days by men who fear that certain species in Alberta may have a dangerous effect on some sections of the population. One point particularly is being studied as the basis for possible investigation in war time. That was the definition of sedition. Stroud's Judicial Dictionary, for instance, says this (at page 1819): "Sedition is the attempt . . . to raise discontent or disaffection amongst His Majesty's subjects, or to promote feelings of ill-will and hostility between different classes of such subjects."

As for the Alberta premier's visit to Ottawa this week, it is known that he is attempting to oppose any action to implement recommendations of the Rowell-Sirois report. From the time the commission was established the Alberta government has been opposing it, in line with the dimly-remembered Major C. H. Douglass' recommendation that Aberhart should pay no attention to any royal commission not appointed by himself. The Alberta government refused to present a brief to the commission, and like a pouting schoolboy prepared a "brief" of its own, at great expense, but without benefit.

It had been hoped in Edmonton that no action on the Rowell-Sirois report would be taken until after the war. But now it is reported that the federal government intends calling a dominion-provincial conference soon to discuss immediate action on it.

So, reportedly, Aberhart is going to Ottawa now to start discussion on the matter, and it can be expected that he will have much to say about the federal government's action later.

The Social Credit provincial members of the legislature held their caucus during the past week, apparently without reaching any decision as to what date the next session will start. It had been rumored in Edmonton that a number of the members were pressing the government to hold a pre-Christmas session as was done several times in the first years of Social Credit rule. It was reported in some legislative circles that several of the members on the government side are feeling the pinch of necessity owing to the fact that loans have been secured in advance on the next sessional indemnity and for this reason would be very welcome. At the close of the caucus on Friday an official statement was given by the press to the effect that a resolution was passed, inviting all progressively-minded groups across Canada to unite in obtaining economic and monetary reforms needed in the Dominion. This is regarded

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
Plan Those Christmas Cards Now

No ready-made Christmas card can match the individual, personal quality of a card that uses one of your own pictures.

Scenes is broad—an appealing scenic view, a roadside picture of the family group that you'd like to give to the now or beside the year's Christmas tree—indeed, anything personal that suggests the holiday season.

If you wish, you can have several types of cards. For instance, for friends who are especially fond of your children, you could print a small picture at the top of writing, with a holly wreath at a window beside her. Prints of proper size could be gummed at the upper edge inside a folded correspondence card and on the opposite side, in the child's own writing, could appear the message, "Merry Christmas from (the name), also Mamma and Papa."

You might even use humor. For example, the front leaf of a folded card might bear the note: "No Christmas card from the (family name) this year." Inside could be a photograph of the front door, with a large sign hanging from the door knob:

THE PASS EIGHTEEN YEARS AGO

(The Blairstmore Enterprise, 1922)

Nov. 16.—Rev. Father Cosman and W. T. Young took part in the Armistice services on November 11th. About 1,500 people attended. The procession to the Protestant and Catholic cemeteries was in charge of Capt. J. Angus MacDonald and Capt. W. J. Fisher.

John Spence, of Ardley, Alberta, was this week appointed chief of police of the town of Blairstmore, succeeding James M. Carter, resigned.

Sidney Sargent and Virgil Passmore, of the U.S. navy, arrived this week on a visit to their parents.

Auto license plates for Alberta for 1923 will be white on blue background. The stock visited Mr. and Mrs. John McAndrew this week.

Bob Edwards passed on above with all the other good editors this week. His job in future will be placing and replacing stars.

Nov. 23.—Coleman's new arena will cost in the neighborhood of $16,000. The Beaman hospital at Bellevue was destroyed by fire on Wednesday of this week.

Alice Boultou, formerly of Coleman, was murdered at Copalis, Washington, on Friday last.

Sidney Sargent, son of Mr. S. J. Sargent, was married at Seattle this week.

Nov. 30.—A grand recital was given at the Greenhill Grill last night by in some quarters as the expected invitation to the C.C.F., and possibly to a part of the U.F.A. organization, to co-operate with the government of Alberta. It has been felt for some time in political circles that a fusion of C.C.F. and Social Credit was not as much of an impossibility as might be thought. In some quarters it has been hinted that the Social Credit party may place its strength behind the candidature of a C.C.F. supporter in the Camrose by-election when that takes place, with a view to bringing that party into unity with the Social Credit government. But there is nothing definite to substantiate this prediction.

There is one thing most of us are willing to share with others: our pet opinions.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins (nee Jean Kemp), at Boston, Mass., on November 3rd.

A certain railway station was named Fish Hook because it was at the end of the line.

THE WAR IN POLAND

Russia is ruling occupied Poland with a heavy hand.

Information of the Russian occupation, received by the Polish consul general to Canada, tells of the deportation of 6,000 peasants from Poland to Siberia.

In southwestern Poland groups of Kirghiz and Mongols have appeared in the villages. They frighten the country people with their looks. It is said that they will colonize the villages from which the Poles have been driven away.

Sugar in southeastern Poland, in spite of fixed low prices (4.5 to 5 rubles for a kilo), is very expensive (20 rubles for a kilo), as it can only be bought in an illegal way.

The next campaign will probably be very bad, as there are no more sugar-beet plantations in the wealthy farms, and the peasants refuse to plant them.

All shops in Wilna have received the order to deposit all objects of value in silver, gold and jewelry at the national bank. Silver, gold and jewelry will be confiscated for the government. The population of Wilna is afraid that objects of gold and silver, as well as jewelry in private hands, will also be confiscated.

The bulk of Italy's navy are now standing on end, some nose down, some nose in the air. They may eventually be converted into light houses along part of the coast of the Mediterranean with Britain in charge.

Nanton's skating arena is being operated by the town. Skating fees for the season are as follows: family $4.50, adult $2.50, student $1.50, children under 14 $1.00, individual admission 20 cents, children 10 cents.

An enjoyable smoker was held by members of the Blairmore branch of the Canadian Legion in their clubroom on Wednesday night. Major J. W. Gresham presided and a very interesting programme of speeches, music, etc., was rendered. A big feature of the evening was the clever sleight of hand work of Comrade H. Harrison, of Bellevue.

Alberta's young women are making themselves known in widely separated fields of endeavor. From Britain comes news of six Edmonton nurses and two from Calgary who are already veterans of the war, caring for as high as 80 casualties at a time in the combat area. They are attached to a R.C.A.M.C. clearing station, operating under canvas. And, from Toronto, comes news that two Alberta girls, Isabel Ferguson, of Calmar, and Nora Fulcher, of Leduc, have won first prize in the swine judging contests held there. Jean Stuart, of Duhamel, was also a member of an Alberta prize-winning team.

Lumber workers in districts more than 10 miles from any Alberta city are given benefit of minimum wage increases ordered by the Alberta board of industrial relations. The order became effective November 1st, and about 6,000 workers are affected. Employees of sawmills, box factories, woodworking plants, logging and tie contractors must now be paid $35 a month minimum with board and lodging, as compared with the $30 a month previously ordered. A nine-hour day is provided for, and 85 cents an hour overtime rates must be paid, except in the case of certain ancillary occupations. Improved conditions in the lumber business and bright prospects for the future were given by Clayton Adams, board chairman, as reasons for the wage increases.

Underground Hospitals

Two Somewhere In England Which Nazis Cannot Bomb

In Southeastern England—Here in Britain's front line are two hospitals the Nazis won't bomb. They are deep in the earth and rock—one an improvisation of old mine workings, the other dug by men of the Royal Army Medical Corps.

In the one that was cut by a generation that never dreamed man would conquer the skies, a young captain pointed with pride to his anti-gas arrangements, his operating theatre with enameled wall, sterilized cases, hot and cold water system and brilliant lights.

Four casualties lay on white beds in the hospital ward, while in another section were drugs, food and water, enough to last a fortnight.

The other underground hospital was carved out of earth and rock by Medical Corps men who a few months ago knew nothing of tunneling.

Next to the reception room is a well-equipped field dressing station. Further along the tunnel is an alcove reminiscent of a vintner's cellar. Rows of numbered caskets contain an emergency water supply.

Niches cut in the operating room walls held instrument cases and sterilizing cabinets. Past the operating room the tunnel widened to form a ward in which stretchers hang bulk-like from the sides. Fresh air circulates throughout, driven by fans.

Nothing went to waste in the cave-hospital's construction. Up on top is a vegetable garden planted in earth excavated from the tunnels. It also provides a perfect camouflage.

Would Drain Lake

Largest Body Of Iron In Canada Under Steep Rock Lake

The Toronto Telegram said it had learned at Queen's Park that Steep Rock lake, located about 135 miles from Fort Arthur, may be drained so that a large ore body beneath the lake can be mined to meet the increased demand for iron ore.

The story said that development work is already proceeding at the lake, "under which is said to lie the largest and finest body of iron ore in Canada."

At the present time the lake is used as a power source by the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission to supply the district.

Red Cross Activities

Peace Time Duties Being Carried On In Addition To War Work

Normal peacetime duties of the Canadian Red Cross Society are still being carried on along with those of the war in the Saskatchewan division.

The nine outpost hospitals—at Bracken, Carragana, Endeavor, Loo Lake, Rockglen, Paddockwood, Turquoise Pierceland and Hudson Bay Junction (the latter opened in January last)—have this year admitted approximately 1,500 patients.

In the Junior Red Cross hospital in Regina—the only special hospital for children in the province, and devoted to the free care of crippled children of parents whose finances could not accomplish the heavy outlays required—there have been approximately 100 cases admitted in the same period.

Various other duties include: maintenance of 13 Red Cross highway first aid posts; aid for those in need of artificial limbs and without funds; special cases of ex-service men of the last Great War, ill and with insufficient, or without pensions; and still other extreme cases of illness, ineligible for aid under the law from their municipal councils.

Of every Red Cross dollar donated, only 14 cents are required to carry these duties forward along with those of the war.

Turning to the war-work front, the shipments of goods to the national warehouses in the east total as follows: 68,517 pairs socks, 7,489 sweaters, 32,668 pyjamas, 18,768 bed gowns, 3,699 pneumonia jackets, 308 bed pads, 3,798 triangular bandages, 2,082 abdominal binders, 304 pillow cases, 3,956 towels, 756 dressing gowns, 162 day shirts, 600 mitts, 624 helmets, 324 bed jackets, 42 shawls, 372 children's garments, 14,976 referee garments, 3,597 quilts, 9,744 blankets. Beside the following shipments have been made to army units in Saskatchewan: 4,984 pairs socks, 481 scarfs, 78 pneumonia jackets, 72 pyjamas, 62 bed gowns, 40 dressing gowns, 90 sweaters, 16 bag covers, bed pan covers, bandages, sacks, rugs, curtains.

FUN TO LEARN THE PIANO THIS EASY SHORT-CUT WAY

Please with Favorite Airs

What a change in a girl's social life when she teaches herself to play the piano! Instead of being just a piano player, she's the star of the party, delighting old friends and winning new ones.

And you can teach yourself to play, by this short-cut method which makes it easy to read music and master the piano key-board.

You have a "life-size" chart of the part of the piano most frequently used. With each picture is in the note which you then learn on the staff. When you place this chart behind your keyboard, you see at a glance which key to strike for each note.

You see too, how huge though the keyboard may look, the same 12 black and white keys are repeated throughout the length. Our diagram includes the 12 half notes at Middle C and continuing to the next C in what is called an octave. Learn this simple octave, both keys and notes, and you've taken the first big step in playing the piano.

Other steps are as simple; in time you are playing your favorite airs. Our new 24-page instruction book includes the short-cut chart, gives chords and elements of music; gives the music of popular tunes for practice.

Nazi Army Distribution

A Lot Of Troops And A Lot Of Territory To Cover

Germany now has about 855,000 troops stationed within striking distance of Great Britain in addition to 225,000 stationed in and near Scandinavia, a responsible non-British military authority said.

British sources reported that about 70 German divisions, or 1,050,000 men, were stationed in southern Germany, Austria and Slovakia, ready for a possible blow at the Balkans.

The non-British informant reported that the remainder of the Nazi army was distributed as follows:

Central Germany: 70 to 75 divisions, or up to 1,125,000 men.

In and near Scandinavia: 15 divisions.

Normandy: 12 divisions or 180,000 men.

Belgium: 12 divisions.

Calais, Boulogne and channel coast generally: 18 divisions, or 270,000 men.

Monument To Coolies

Hundreds Of Thousands Helped In Construction Of Burma Road

The almost fabulous Burma Road, which has been reopened by the British government, is not only a lifeline of the struggling Chinese Republic, but is an heroic monument to the unsung hero of that republic, the tireless, smiling, anonymous coolie, says Richards Watts, Jr., in the New York Herald Tribune. The road which stretches from Kunming, the capital of Yunnan Province, to Lashio, the railhead in what is geographically Upper Burma, a distance of 710 tortuous miles through mountains, across gorges and into occasional beautiful valleys, is likewise a tribute to Chinese engineering, but it is the hundreds of thousands of coolies, many of whom didn't even know a war was going on, who are the heroes of this great construction job.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 1ST

JESUS' CONCERN FOR LIFE AND HEALTH

Golden text: I came that they may have life, and may have it abundantly. John 10:10.

Lesson: Luke 7.

Devotional reading: 3:10-21.

Explanations and Comments

The Centurion's Servant Cured, Luke 7:1-10. Jesus sent Jewish elders to Jesus at Capernaum to ask him to come and save his servant from a critical illness. A centurion was a Roman military officer commanding a company of men (sometimes fifty). Galilee was ruled at this time by Herod Antipas who imitated Roman ways, and this man may have been in his service. His soldiers were mostly Greeks, rulers or influential men connected with the synagogue, whose friendship he had won by the strength of his own character, no doubt, and by his generous gifts. In pleading his cause with Jesus, they told him that he was worthy of his help, for he loved their nation and had even built the synagogue for them.

Jesus responded gladly, as Luke gives the account (Matthew differs here), Jesus returned with these elders and was met on the way by other friends of the centurion. The centurion did not put himself to trouble in his behalf, for he was not worthy to have Jesus come under his roof, nor had he deserved him to be worthy of such a rabbi. He would have considered it defiling to enter a foreigner's house. Then the centurion gave expression to his remarkable faith in Jesus' power: Jesus needed only to say the word and the sick man would be healed.

Jesus marvelled at those words, and turning to the crowd with his eyes, he said, "I have found much greater faith in a Gentile than in Israel."

The centurion's faith was great, not alone in its completeness, in the clearness of its insight into Christ's power, but also in its depth of humility, humility and frankness and simplicity and humility with which he acted in accordance with his act.

And they that were sent, return to the house, found the servant whole.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

by Dr. J. W. S. McCULLOUGH

INCIDENCE OF TUBERCULOSIS

To vigorous indulgence in athletics, too many parties, continued late hours, insufficient rest and sleep and repeated spells of sickness all contribute to a weakening of the resistance of the human body and assist in the spread of tuberculosis.

This statement was made by Dr. Gordon Jackson, Medical Officer of Health for Toronto, whose department in conducting one of the most extensive and comprehensive surveys ever held to discover the incidence of tuberculosis among pupils of high school age. The survey is being made in a number of secondary schools in Toronto.

"Only the tubercle bacilli can cause tuberculosis," said Dr. Jackson. "But overwork, strain, dissipation, hard times, improper food, discouragement and similar burdens are the fifth columnists which prepare the way and make the path easy for it."

"Of all the deaths from tuberculosis which occurred in Toronto last year, in the age group 15 to 29 years, 35 per cent. were those of females and only 15 per cent. were males. It may be noted that in the accepted high school group, 15 to 19 years, 35 per cent. were those of females and only 15 per cent. were males. The deaths were 2 1/2 times greater in girls than in boys, and that these younger age groups supplied approximately 25 per cent. of the total deaths for the city of Toronto."

Dr. Jackson was asked to predict how many of the pupils examined in the present survey would have a positive reaction.

Said he: "We don't know.

It shouldn't be more than 20 per cent. of those tested; it probably won't be less than 10 per cent. In 1,000 pupils that would mean 100 reactions will be found.

A Magic Trick

Britain Carrying On Normal Business While Engaged In War

Le Soleil, Quebec, says: The least optimistic of English economists, Mr. Maynard Keynes, admitted recently that the admirable management of the British Government is on the way to accomplish a magical trick of which he himself was in doubt. While England is repulsing the assaults of the German air power and while she is carrying the war into Germany, she continues to import, to produce, to sell and to deliver her merchandise to all her clients in the Empire or foreign countries. She has spent in the year for her exports and imports—offering more than she spent from 1911 to 1918. (This time she has not had to lend billions to her Allies.) And she is entering the second year of the conflict with a program that will be still more costly. But John Bull knows how to get the funds for this magnificent effort.

Easy On His Clothes

Tennyson Seemed To Understand How To Make Them Last

The Manchester Guardian says: It is a pity that we are forced to buy our clothes last longer, that we cannot look for a tip or two from Tennyson, for the poems seem to have been remarkably successful in such matters. He wore one favorite cloak nearly all his life, and even knew how to make shoes last almost indefinitely. William Allingham told how when he and Brownrigg dined with him one evening the poet laureate talked of boots and how to preserve them, and by way of illustration exhibited a pair of shoes which he had had in wear for 40 years.

He had to sit on the steps for a long time before he was sufficiently calm to go in. Listening at the door before he opened it, he crept into the hall, closed the door without a sound and tiptoed to his study. He was wet through and shivering. The suitcases were shining like patent leather. He took off his drenched overcoat and rang the bell. The maid who presently appeared was surprised to see him.

"I thought, sir—" she began, but he cut her short.

"Go up to my room—don't make a noise—and bring me down a complete change. You may tell your mistress that I shall not be up for some time."

Poking the meager fire, he warmed his hands at the blaze. The girl came back with a bundle of clothes, announced her intention of making him a cup of tea, and discreetly retired.

Ellenbury started to change when a thought occurred to him. He might have to change again. His trousers were not very wet. And round about the pit was very muddy. He had thought of the pit in the Fates was working for him.

He put on his dressing gown and took down from a shelf two volumes which he had often read. The Chronicles of Crime they were called—a record of drab evil told in the stilted style of their Early Victorian editor. They were each "embellished with fifty-two illustrations by 'Phiz'."

He opened a volume at random. " * * * when a female, young, beautiful and innocent is the victim of the common usages who would not ask his life to wash her from despair and misery. * * * "

This little bit of moralizing was the sentence he read. He turned the page, unconscious of its irony.

Maria Marten—shot in a barn. There was another wretched killing with a sword. He turned the leaves impatiently; regretted at that moment so little acquaintance with the criminal bar. There was a large ax—where? Outside the kitchen stairs, passing the maid on her way up. Just outside the kitchen door, in the very place where he had seen it that morning. He brought it upstairs under his dressing gown.

"You may go to bed," he said to the maid, and when he had drunk his cup of tea he heaved on his wet overcoat and went out into the storm.

How very unpleasant! * * * Why couldn't they let him go away quietly? * * * an old man—white-haired, with only a few years to live? Tears rolled down his cheeks at the injustice of his treatment. It was Harlow! Dame Harlow! This poor girl who had done nobody any harm—a beautiful creature who must die because of Harlow!

He dashed the weak tears from his eyes with the back of his hand, lifted off the padlock, and threw open the door.

The candle had burned down to its last flicker of life, but in that fraction of light, before the wick sank bluely into oblivion, he saw the white face of the girl as she stood, frozen in the ladder, and, detaching the hook of the ladder, he reached up and gripped the bars of the window above. Fortunately he was on the lee side of Greenhart House and the wind that shrieked about its corners did not greatly hamper him.

In ten minutes he was on the flat roof of the house, walking with difficulty in his felt-soled shoes toward the square brick shed. Now he caught the full force of the gale and was glad of the shelter which the parapet afforded.

As he had expected, in the brick superstructure there was a stout door, fastened by a patent lock. Probably it was bolted as well. He could not, however, hear any sound from the inside, and then continued his search, keeping the rays of his powerful hand lamp within a few inches of the roof. There was nothing to be discovered here, and he returned to the starboard. From his pocket he took a leather case of tools, fitted a small auger into a bit, and pushed it in the thickness of the door. He had not gone far before the point of the bit ground against something hard. The door was steel lined. Replacing the tool, he pulled himself up to the roof of the shed, and he had to grip the edge to prevent being blown off.

The roof was of solid concrete, and it would need a sledge hammer and unlimited time to break through. Possibly there was an unguarded window, though he did not remember having seen any. He leaped across the parapet and looked down into the side street that connected Park lane with the thoroughfare where he had left his car. As he did so, he saw a man walk briskly up to the door, open it and enter. The sound of the slamming door came up to him. It was obviously Harlow; no other man had that peculiar swing of shoulders in his walk. What had he been doing out on such a night? Then it occurred to Jim that he had come from the direction of his garage.

Treating The Blind

Medical Science is Making Remarkable Advances in Recent Years

In connection with the treatment of eye disorders, medical science is constantly breaking new ground. At a convention of medical men held in Memphis recently, one investigator reported that he had obtained substantially satisfactory results in the treatment of some forms of deterioration of the optic nerve by draining the sinuses. At the same meeting another doctor reported that in his investigations had shown that certain types of cataract were not due directly to a condition in the eye itself, but to the fact that improper or unavoidable debt had led to a condition in the eye which made it particularly susceptible to the growth of cataract.—National News of the Blind.
